

MHI Anthology

We believe that communities in the Midwest are hungry for more than just food. With continued funding cuts to music and art programs in schools and communities, there is a need for community composing outlets and events. Our first Community Composing Project, #MidwestHungerIs is designed to contribute to a global Midwest that better understands and engages with the practices of writing, literacy, creative storytelling, music, and the arts. Simultaneously, it contributes to an increased awareness of, and activism around, the local and global issue of hunger. Furthermore, it invites university and community participants, as well as policy makers and government officials, to think broadly about the idea of hunger and what it is that Midwest citizens hunger for and why. As a part of the project, weekly writing prompts featuring organizations and individuals, including hunger facts were provided to inspire authors to question, ponder, and write. We also hosted numerous events to provide space and time for composing. These live and online writing events produced texts that were assembled into the #MidwestHungerIs Anthology. This anthology was shared with several Michigan composers who were also paired with local school, church, and community choirs. Creating Community and Change Through Music is the culmination of this project.

A great coach can assist you to set up a plan that meets your aims and educate you the greatest way to exercise. Finding and selecting a trainer may be daunting a bit confusing and, for some. It is challenging going in with extra information about how fitness works can allow it to be a little simpler, although requesting assistance. (Personal Trainers) What is a Personal Trainer? A personal trainer should be, at the very least, educated and certified through a recognised fitness organization (see below). This individual's job will be to assess your level of fitness, figure out what your aims are (or help you establish targets) create a plan and keep you motivated. She or he will push you beyond your comfort level — something tough to do by yourself. A trainer additionally provides:

1. Guidance on achieving your goals
2. Instruction about fundamental nutrition, cardio and bodybuilding 3. Each week a reason to appear at the gym 4. Accountability 5. Methods to assist monitor your improvement What is a Program Like? Each session typically lasts about an hour. The first meeting is dedicated to assessing body measurements, fitness level, health and workout background and goals. Be ready to step on the scale, have your body fat measured and answer questions that were particular about your goals. After this, you'll spend each session performing cardiovascular exercise, weight-training, flexibility or other activities depending on what your aims are. Your trainer will show you give you tips for getting the most out of each workout, enable you to determine how much weight to use and just how to do the exercises. What to try to find In a Personal Trainer 1. Education: A personal trainer should be accredited through a recognised personal training organization. The more education your trainer has, the better your workouts will be, although a workout science or other related college degree isn't crucial. 2. CPR: your coach should have an updated qualification in CPR and/or firstaid. 3. Experience: Make sure your trainer has expertise, particularly with regards to your goals. As an example, if you are a bodybuilder, you want some body educated in that area. 4. Details: If you've got a particular clinical issue, injury or illness (such as being pregnant, difficulty becoming pregnant, heart troubles, diabetes, etc.) ensure your trainer has education in these fields and communicate with your doctor. 5. A good-listener: A good trainer ensure he comprehends your aims and should listen carefully to what you say. 6. Attention: A good trainer should be targeted only during your sessions on you. 7. Monitoring improvement: A great coach will often assess your progress and alter things if necessary.
